THIS BATTLE OF IRON MEN and STEEL NERVES

BY LAURIE BURILLS
SUN Scrambling Correspondent

If we are to believe all the predictions about the final outcome of the 250 c.c. Moto-Cross world title then the Russian, 23-year-old Victor Arbekov, already has it in the bag. Hailing from Moscow and a comparative newcomer to the international scene — he broke into top flight scrambling only two seasons ago — he has, in this short space of time, pushed the other more established Russians and the vastly more experienced Czechs, clean off the top placings of all the European leaderboards and is now quietly, but very, very methodically making a strong, utterly dedicated bid for the world crown.

As I see it (these notes are being written before the Polish, Russian and East German rounds of the championship) only two men, Belgium's Joel Robert (CZ), the reigning champion, and Britain's Dave Bickers (Greeves) are in any sort of position to stop him. Two more, Vlastimil Valek, the Czech wizard and Sweden's former world champion Torsen Hallman (Husqvarna) are close behind, but each would need at least two—perhaps all three—outright wins from these three Iron Curtain meetings even to get into a challenging position.

Robert's meteoric rise to claim the world title last season has not been followed with anything like the same success and good fortune in the seven rounds that have been held up to the time of writing. A few weeks before the season began Robert suffered two minor physical set-backs and at Makkinga, in the Dutch Grand Prix, he sacrificed a certain overall second placing when he was forced to retire from the racing with severe stomach pains.

At that point in the championship things had really begun to look black for the champion whose earlier much publicised ambition was to be the first rider to carry off both 250 c.c. and 500 c.c. moto-cross world titles in the same year. A week later at Schiffflange in Luxembourg Robert slammed back with all his old characteristic style for his first win in this series. It was a truly magnificent thrashing of all Europe's aces. Arbekov, in particular, was dramatically lashed by the young Belgian who won the first race 49 seconds ahead of the Russian, following it up with a terrific 37 seconds win despite a heavy rainstorm which churned the course and made racing a mud bath.

Not unnaturally, the headlines again screamed "Robert in the groove . . ." and "Robert once more serious challenger for the world title . . ." etc., etc. But one win does not make a champion and no one knows this better than Joel. And that's why those three Grand Prix behind the Iron Curtain are so vital. Vital to Joel if he is to retain his crown. Vital to Hallman if he is not to fade to complete obscurity. Vital to the Czech Valek who must satisfy his Jawa factory bosses that he is still a power to be reckoned with in the world series, and vital, not least of all to our own Dave Bickers who, of all the 250 c.c. giants, is the man with the best chance of ultimate success.

As we all know, luck plays a major part in every Grand Prix. Dave Bickers has had more than his share of misfortune yet I have never heard him complain of his lot. He has twice won the European championship when it was virtually the world title and but for a run of bad luck would undoubtedly have been the first world champion.

At that time he was the world's best 250 c.c. rider yet a run of mishaps robbed him of his rightful place in the record books.

He is still a great rider, but as the competition matures the number of youngsters striving for recognition grows and grows. Now there are perhaps two dozen stars, most of them barely out of their teens, joining the battle. And as their machinery improves so the gap between the really greats and themselves lessens. Some believe that the new young bloods like Robert and Arbekov have already overtaken Bickers. But over the full season of 15 meetings, and with equal luck, I doubt it very much.

Bickers, with no machine troubles and just a little of the good fortune that has so rarely come his way, won the first round in Spain with ease. Then along came Arbekov. Bickers didn't have the luck and the Russian chalked up two wins. At the Belgian Grand Prix Bickers collected maximum points, but the Russians were not there having been kept in Moscow for their May Day celebrations. But Joel was there and on home ground: a seized engine cost the Belgian the first race and a pile-up lost him the second.

At the following meeting, in Czechoslovakia, luck deserted Robert again. He won the first of the two races then, sensationally, he was disqualified because in the second leg the race took longer than he had petrol for and after stopping to re-fuel, he was ruled out. That round went to Valek—his only win in the series up to then.

Arbekov won twice more—in West Germany and in Holland. In the West German Bickers was catching the Russian when he crashed. At Makkinga he jockeyed for a good position and was well placed fourth behind Arbekov when a plug whiskered. Then a gearbox let him down . . . and out. And just to prove how much a part luck plays, Robert was going extremely well at that time and it looked like a real dice with the Russian would develop when a devastating bout of stomach cramp and pain—something he had never previously experienced—forced him to retire from the race. A week later, at Schiffflange, he hit back and really showed Arbekov what he could do when one hundred per cent fit.

Britain's Bickers is a great and tireless fighter. Robert we now know, cannot win both moto-cross titles, but he can still make it a headache for whoever is best placed to take his 250 c.c. crown. The entry for this event, which is being organised by the Tor Motor Cycle and Car Club for the Auto-Cycle Union, is one of the best I have seen in this year's series. The British line-up sums up the absolute strength of our 250 c.c. men, although four different types of machine will be used, Bickers, Clough, Griffiths and Malcolm Davis on the new Greeves Challenger, Ernie Greer on a Dot, Bryan Goss on his private Husqvarna and Don Rickman on the Bultaco-Metisse.

Among the overseas riders are many old friends, the Czechs Valek, Pilar and Dobry, Germany's Fritz Betzlbacher on a Wabcha-Montesa, the two Spaniards Oroil Bulto and Jose Sanchez, Holland's Rob Selling making a welcome return to Britain and Ireland's lightweight champion Gerry Scarlett. Adding the spice are the many newcomers to the British round like Sweden's Ake Jonsson, Jan Blomqvist, Finland's Jyrki Storm, Robert's partner Marcel Wiertz, now on a Bultaco. and the Danes Soren Dons and Jan Moller.

All these plus the variety of machinery is a gilt-edged guarantee that we will all be kept on our toes this afternoon. And it is as well to bear in mind that with Jeff Smith doing so well in the 500 c.c. class, and Dave Bickers making a tough fight of it in this category with three more meetings still to be held (in Sweden, Finland and Austria) there is a strong possibility that Britain will have, for the first time, two world champions reigning at the same time.

Tomorrow's SUN will carry a full story of this meeting and detailed results.

This year the series includes 15 Grand Prix meetings,—riders' best 7 performances to count towards the Championship. The meetings are—28th March, Spain (winner D. Bickers); 4th April, Italy (V. Arbekov); 11th April, France (V. Arbekov); 15th April, Belgium (D. Bickers); 9th May, Czechoslovakia (V. Valek); 16th May, West Germany (V. In all Grands Prix points are awarded in each of the two races—1 point for the first, 2 points for the second, 3 points for the third, etc. The points gained in each race will be totalled and the winner of the Grand Prix will be the rider with the smallest number of points. In the event of two or more riders having the same total of points, then the rider who has completed the most laps will be adjudged the winner. Should there still be a tie the rider who had made the best time will be adjudged the winner. The winner on "overall classification" scores 8 Championship points, second - 6 points, third - 4 points, fourth 3 points, fifth - 2 points, and sixth - 1 point.

the best things on two wheels

DUNLOP tyres make the best of both wheels. DUNLOP'S endless research into construction, composition and tread design produces the safest, most comfortable tyres on two wheels, with safer cornering, surer steering, more responsive braking and miles longer wear. That's why they are fitted as standard equipment by the majority of British motor cycle manufacturers. And why you, too, should always ask for Dunlop.
