Norton-Radstock Round Table is part of a worldwide movement known as World Council of Young Mens Service Clubs. In the British Isles the movement is represented by the National Association of Round Tables of Great Britain and Ireland, it is honoured by the patronage of H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh.

The first Round Table was formed in Norwich in 1927. The idea was for a club where young men could get together and exchange their ideas. To keep the movement perpetually young an age limit of forty was fixed and is still strictly adhered to. There are now over 1000 Round Tables in Great Britain and Ireland; each autonomous yet welded into a National Association. There are also Round Tables in twenty-three countries of the world.

The name and motto was taken from a speech made by the Prince of Wales in 1927. He said, 'The young business and professional men of this country must get together round the table, adopt methods that have proved sound in the past, adapt them to the changing needs of our times and wherever possible improve them'.

Charitable work is an important part of the Table philosophy and maybe either raising money for a project which the Table adopts (as today) or helping directly ourselves.

During the eleven years since Round Table was established in Norton Radstock we have raised considerable sums of money for various charities, local, national and international.

We thank you for your support which, as always, is much appreciated. Round Table is a fellowship organisation too, and a lot of our pleasure is derived from working together on a project such as this. We hope that you too will have pleasure this afternoon.
