A Marvellous Collection of Classic Reading

Of Interest to the Historian and Restorer.

The Scott Motorcycle

by Jeff Clew

There is no other motorcycle like a Scott. The Bugatti of motorcycles perhaps does most justice to an understanding of the marque. In this book the author Jeff Clew looks at the machine, the inventor, the factory, its successes and failures and the famous Scott trial.

£5.25

Velocette

by Rod Burris

A fascinating history of the development of the MSS, Venom, Viper, Thruxton and Scrambler models.

Many suppliers' part numbers are listed, and there is a wide selection of photographs and illustrations many previously unpublished.

£5.95

The Sunbeam Motorcycle

by Robert Gordon Champ

Often overlooked by restorers and historians, the Sunbeam nevertheless had an important part to play in the fabric of the British motorcycling industry. The author, a real Sunbeam enthusiast, has produced probably the definitive work on these interesting machines.

Whatever happened to the British Motorcycle Industry

by Bert Hopwood

Much rubbish is talked about the demise of our bike industry, and much more has been written. Here, at last, is the inside story written with conviction and knowledge. Every historian should have a copy.

It's a Triumph

by Ivor Davies

With the creative talent of the late Edward Turner as the focal point, this book provides a unique insight into the post World War 2 era of the Triumph Engineering Company at Meriden.

£8.50

The Restoration of Vintage and Thoroughbred Motorcycles

by Jeff Clew

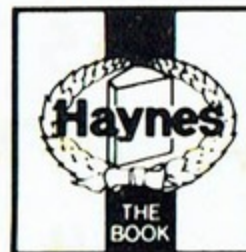

The book gives a comprehensive, illustrated and experienced guide to the purchase, restoration and preservation of any motorcycle thought by its owner to be worth saving.

It will stand as the fundamental 'work' for the owners of old motorcycles.
